

Professor Jacques
Dequesne

Ch. des Croix-Rouges 16
1007 Lausanne,
Switzerland
T +41 21 323 63 11

CURRICULUM VITAE

- 1971 Degree in Medicine in Liège, Belgium
- 1974 First Endoscopy
- 1978 Degree in Gynaecology and Obstetrics, Switzerland
- 1985 Foundation of the Lausanne Endoscopic Center (L.E.C), at the Clinique Cecil. Centre of continued education in gynaecological endoscopic surgery, recognized by the ESGE, the AGE and the SSGO.
- 1986 Start of publications and work on endoscopic surgery and endometrial ablation.
- 1990 Founding member of the European Society for Gynaecological Endoscopy (ESGE)
Founding member of the International Society for Gynaecological Endoscopy (ISGE)
International advisor of the American Association of Gynaecological Laparoscopists (AAGL) till 2001
- 1994 Founding Member of the Working Group on Gynaecological Endoscopy AGE of the SSGO (Swiss Society of Obstetrics and Gynaecology)
- 2005-2006
President of the European Society for Gynaecological Endoscopy (ESGE)

Current Positions

Professor at the University of Liège, Belgium (teaching and education in gynaecological surgery).

Vice President of European Society of Gynecology (SEG)

Head of the LEC (Lausanne Endoscopic Center), Switzerland

Member of the Editorial Board of the European Journal on "Gynaecological Surgery Endoscopy, Imaging and allied Techniques".

Past President of the European Society for Gynaecological Endoscopy (ESGE)

Professor Dequesne is expert in endoscopic and laser surgery.

Treatment of: endometriosis, sterility stress incontinence and pelvic floor and breast disorders.

Endoscopic treatment of fibroids, ovarian cysts and abdominal pain.